

Synchronize your sales efforts

Increase your sustainable sales with a methodical, cohesive approach that works.

Many business building strategies are short-sighted with sales fluctuating from quarter to quarter. Sales & Marketing Integration, Inc. offers you a more stable, scientific method to increasing sustainable sales.

We help our clients achieve greater sales on a steady, progressive basis by developing and fully integrating sales and marketing efforts together. It is a unique “Integrated Selling System” where all activities of a company such as manufacturing, logistics, engineering, tech support and quality control collaborate with one another to support incremental sales. Orchestrating these departments to operate in unison with sales and marketing distinguishes us. . . and gives you a crucial advantage over the competition.

Each SMI solution is “made-to-order” to meet your strategic goals, budgets and deadlines. Find out now about our array of decisive consulting and outsourcing services, all focused on achieving sustainable sales. Step by deliberate step.
